Patriotic Meeting At Cathedral Auditorium As Parade Is Disbanded

New Castle rose to the challenge of Army Day Monday, April 6. In a parade that surpassed anything of its kind attempted since World War I, this city turned in a demonstration that while not as large as those in metropolitan cities, certainly could not be surpassed for color and enthusiasm.

How many were in the parade is a matter of conjecture but there were not less than 7500. Business and professional men, war veterans, labor and industry, school teacher and student, all classes, all creeds, marching with a unity of purpose that is heartening in these days of total war. Watching the parade from the sidelines was a crowd that packed Washington street from Croton avenue to the public square, packed South Mill street from Division to South Croton, and Jefferson street from the square to Grant street.

Formed on Mill St.

Forming on Mill street from Division street to Grove, the parade moved out at 7 o'clock. Heading the line of march were floats of the army, navy and marines. On the floats were pictures of recent events, uniformed men and some arms. Then came the Legion band.

Drakeford's statement was preceded by official announcement that Australia is now receiving "all requested lease-lend materials from the United States, amply proving that the forces opposing the Axis have succeeded to the fullest in keeping open the vital lines of communication across the South Pacific."

An Australian radio broadcast telling of the new attack on Lae said: "The Allied air offensive against Japanese bases in the north was continued."

France Seeks Aid As Germany Increases Pressure On Government

FOOD SUPPLIES CHIEF REQUEST

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Responsible sources in Washington today disclosed that Vichy France is appealing to the United States for American economic assistance to help Marshal Henri Petain resist increased German pressure on his government.

French Ambassador Gaston Heny-Have is scheduled to confer with President Roosevelt on the matter tomorrow.

Germany's Attitude Stiffens

Germany is understood to be stiffening its attitude toward Vichy as a result of the following two developments:

1.—Petain's refusal to reinstate former Vice Premier Pierre Laval, leader of the pro-German collaborationist movement, in the government.

2.—Petain's action in giving the United States definite new assurances that France will render no military aid to the Axis powers.

It can now be revealed that these assurances have been put in writing, and are responsible for the recently improved relations between the state department and Vichy.

Infuriated by this gesture of friendship toward the United States and Petain's refusal to agree to closer collaboration with the Axis, Germany is refusing to permit the shipment of wheat from the occupied zone to the unoccupied areas of France.

The Nazis furthermore are reported to be threatening to treat the unoccupied areas with extreme severity.

Seeks Food Supplies

In order to help the French people resist this increased German pressure, Ambassador Heny-Have intends to ask President Roosevelt for the right to purchase food in this country for the unoccupied areas as well as for the French war prisoners still held in German camps.

The French envoy wants to purchase the food with "frozen" French funds and ship it to France aboard French merchant ships.

Vichy feels that distribution of American food among the French people not only will strengthen their friendship for the United States but will encourage them to resist any German move to oust Marshal Petain as chief of state, or to occupy all of France.

As a first step in this direction, the French government would like to have the United States resume American Red Cross food shipments to France. A cargo of about 6,000 tons of concentrated foods and medical supplies allotted by the Red Cross to France has been lying in a warehouse for several months now, awaiting government approval of its shipment.

The French government also would like to purchase a pound of American food per month for each of the 1,500,000 French war prisoners still held in German camps. The French have pointed out to the state department that the British are permitted to send 20 pounds of food per month to each of their war prisoners in German camps.

NEW WILMINGTON COUPLE TO OBSERVE 73RD ANNIVERSARY

The Civil War, the Spanish-American War, World War I and the present war, Mr. Ramsey was about 14 years of age at the time of the Civil War and stated that at the present time, if he were able to fight he would do so in a minute. The Ramseys now have a grandson, Laverne Weir, located with the United States Army stationed in California.

Father Undertaker

When Mr. Ramsey's father, Robert Ramsey, first went to New Wilmington he was in business as an undertaker. Mr. Ramsey recalls helping his father in this business about 75 years ago. His father was a cabinet maker by trade and all coffins were made from lumber. Embalming was not known in those days and it was often that a country man would arrive in town with stick the length of the body, a notch cut in it showing the width of the shoulders, so that Mr. Ramsey and his father could make a coffin and arrange a funeral. Mr. Ramsey also remembers the first coffins that were ready made some years ago.

Interested In "Underground"

Before going to New Wilmington, Mr. Ramsey's father resided at North East, Pa., near Lake Erie, and was vitally interested in the underground railroad. He was an abolitionist, called at that time "black list abolitionists." A man, named Young, and living three miles north of New Wilmington, was also interested in the underground railroad and would hide escaped negro slaves until members of the organization could make arrangements for sending them on to the next station. Mr. Young would ship the slaves through Mexico and on to Erie where Mr. Ramsey's father would help in taking care of them. Slaveholders would be close on the heels of their former slaves and the utmost caution was required in protecting the negroes.

With the slaves hidden and the slaveholders arriving in North East, the North East funeral director would make arrangements for a funeral at the home where the negro was hidden. Mr. Ramsey's father would then make a coffin and take it to the home where the funeral was to be held, placing the lid and take it on to the next station in a spring wagon. A record of these underground railroad events, including the part played by Robert Ramsey, is shown in the history of Erie county.

The Ramseys speak highly of all their neighbors and of the Amish people. Young in spirit, both look forward to the celebration of their 75th wedding anniversary in two years.

New Castle Fair May Not Be Held

While no definite statement can be secured in the matter there appears to be a possibility that the New Castle Fair will not be held this year. In the sheriff's sales Monday was one to Joseph Rick who bid in the barns, grand stand and race track of the fair as well as some of the ground. A good portion of the original fair acreage has been owned by Mr. Rick.

The bid of Mr. Rick was $4,450, covering a mortgage out landing against the fair property. What the future will bring for the fair is problematical.

of the bass drummers did certainly give his drum "a whaling." Many bystanders were elated with the band's performance.

New Castle's Army Day demonstration on Monday evening was a notable display of patriotism and united support of the program for victory. It was probably the biggest parade since the days of the first World War, some twenty-five years ago.

Crowds that lined the streets last night for the Army Day parade did well in keeping back on the sidewalks. There was no crowding out into the roadway, as happens in many parades, and greatly spoils the effect of the event.

Last evening, some North Hill boys' kite broke away from him, and the end of the string entwined itself in a big tree on Moody avenue. The kite was still sailing in the breeze at dark, and gave indications of staying up in the atmosphere overnight.

Yesterday we went to the outskirts of town for some pansy plants where there is a whole field of them in bloom. Spring, spring!

One thing that stood out in the Army Day parade was the co-operation of the community. The Shebang township fire department was in the school band from North Beaver township, the Veterans band from Ellwood City. Future Farmers of America, labor organizations, American Red Cross, Boy and Girl Scouts, fraternal and civic organizations all of them joined hands in making the day a real success.

adjustments, particularly regarding defense, may have been made in its original draft declaration.

Meanwhile, Britain's reply to Indian demands for modifications in the proffered plan for post-war independence was believed delivered by Cripps to Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, leader of the Moslem league.

Cabinet in Long Session

The British war cabinet in London had met far into the night to formulate a reply to Indian demands which it was hoped would satisfy all concerned. The particular stumbling block to acceptance of the plan by Indian leaders has been the demand that an Indian be placed in the nation's defense post.

Announcement of the final results of his dealings with heads of the various factions in India was expected to be made by Sir Stafford sometime Wednesday night.

Reports were widespread that intervention of President Roosevelt to urge a quick settlement of the Indian problem may lead to a successful conclusion of Sir Stafford's mission.

It was indicated that Col. Louis Johnson, President Roosevelt's special representative, was working to bridge the gap between the views of the British and the congress party concerning provisions of the plan.

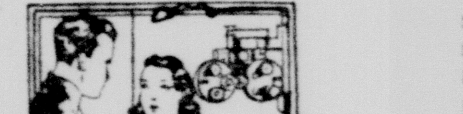

Johnson was reported to have proposed a compromise to break the deadlock which resulted over the defense post dispute.

Some quarters felt that Johnson had kept the American President fully informed of the proceedings and that the delay of London in announcing a decision on substitute points offered by the Indians indicated possibility of conferences between London and Washington.

DR. G. B. LIEBERMAN WOMAN'S CLUB SPEAKER

"This Above All" by Eric Knight was the timely book chosen for criticism and evaluation by George B. Lieberman, distinguished Rabbi and literary critic before a large audience of the Women's club and guests which filled the main auditorium of the Highland U. P. church Monday afternoon. Presented by Mrs. S. D. Pearson, Dr. Lieberman made the distinction between authors who create life and those who photograph life. He placed Eric Knight in the latter class as this story pictures England at war. Beyond Britain's desire to win the peace as well as the war is a spiritual essence which comes of her being true to herself in this life and death struggle for freedom.

A British soldier challenges the reason for fighting and finally accepting the need, questions the lack of fighting equipment. An earlier life of frustration and uncertainty account for a bitterness toward the social structure of England based on inequalities. A burning desire to build a world where justice will reign and universal respect maintain for "poor bleeding humanity," where the ideals for which men fight will see fulfillment, finally catch his imagination.

Through the sequence of the story, the lesson of courage is taught. "Even as war spells destruction, devastation and lowered moral standards," Dr. Lieberman continued, "much good will be derived from all the blood, sweat and tears." He pointed to the wiping out of slums, of the passing of snobbery, a social plague in human relations and the hope that a "democracy of life" will be built from a democracy of death. A true democracy is the fulfillment of brotherhood in action.

During the business session which followed, conducted by Mrs. John E. Elliott, president, Mrs. F. M. Alexander spoke for the Ways and Means committee which used this lecture meeting for raising funds for welfare projects. Mrs. J. J. McIvaine asked that candidates be named for the Y. W. C. A. campership. Bart Richards spoke for the "Salvage for Victory" committee which is planning to collect scrap metal in April.

Invite Public To Participate In Road Safety

American Legion Campaign Broadened To Include Everyone In Community

WON NATIONAL HONOR LAST YEAR

So successful was the American Legion's highway safety campaign last year, in which the Perry S. Gaston post won national honors, that the public has been invited to participate this year and the Greater New Castle Association has promised its cooperation in this worthy endeavor.

Every New Castle driver is invited to take part in this campaign, and in so doing, help to reduce the tremendous highway accident toll which last year claimed more lives than ever before in history.

Lee R. Hanna is chairman for the Perry S. Gaston post and his committee, together with the officers of the GNCA urges every motorist to participate in the campaign this year, and in joining in this effort, try and reduce the number of accidents in Lawrence county.

A coupon is printed herewith, which motorists are asked to sign and turn in to the Greater New Castle Association by April 15, the closing date for entries. The campaign will operate until December 1.

Java," the communiqué said. "Two Netherlands Indies forces of considerable size, one under Gen. Schilling and the other under Gen. Frey, are fighting fiercely in the interior jungles and mountains of Java. They are well supplied with food and munitions and are engaging a considerable force of the enemy."

Military sources felt some concern for Wainwright's outnumbered forces on Bataan in view of the Japanese ceaseless air, sea and land attacks.

It was the second day that the War Department reported Wainwright's troops have fallen back under the heavy Japanese attacks and the first mention in recent fighting of heavy casualties to the defending forces.

Meanwhile, Corregidor and Fort Hughes in Manila Bay duelled with enemy shore batteries for two hours, but the army reported that no casualties or damage were sustained by the American fortifications.

place along the lengthy Russian front over stressed Soviet air successes against the Germans.

Planes Destroyed
 Between March 29 and April 4, the communiqué reported, 29 German planes were destroyed. Loss of 67 Russian craft was acknowledged.

On April 5, 119 Luftwaffe ships were disposed of while the Soviets lost 17, it was said. A previous communiqué announced destruction on Saturday of 102 Nazi planes.

(The German high command communiqué concerning Sunday's air activity in Russia claimed 46 Soviet planes had been destroyed while admitting to the loss of only two German craft.)

The stepped-up German air activity was seen in Moscow as a desperate effort of the Germans to reinforce Nazi positions along the entire front to await Hitler's signal for start of the spring offensive and an attempt to gain air control in the Russian war theater.

THOUSANDS MARCH IN LOCAL PARADE ON MONDAY NIGHT

and Grand Marshal Arthur B. Foster and his aides, and Honorary Marshal Major George Mitchell. Following in line came the various units of the parade, the 100 sailors from Grove City headed by Lieutenant W. F. Grogan, army nurses, the Pennsylvania Reserve Defense Corps, the Future Farmers of America, war veterans, scouts, civic organizations, workers from many of the local plants, railroads, fraternal organizations all of them soldiers of the production army and all showing their willingness to work towards the common good.

Eight bands provided martial music for the parade. Included in the parade were many motorized units conveying Red Cross workers, nurse corps and cadets, and work units. And back in the line was one small group with a banner denoting that the group was the honor roll of the U. S. Defense Savings campaign. Included on the list were the Associated Box Corporation, Citizens Lumber Co., Fisher Bros., Haney Furniture Co., New Castle Lumber Co. and the New Castle Water Co. Each of the companies has over 90 per cent of its employees buying bonds through payroll deductions and an honor flag has been awarded to each.

Impressive Ceremony on Square
 As the second division marched into the public square, the parade halted, with the senior high school band facing the flag on the public square. Dr. John Jameson McIlvaine, pastor of First Presbyterian church, asked the crowd to bow in prayer and Rev. F. M. McCarter, pastor of St. Mary's church, delivered an invocation. Dr. McIlvaine then led the massed thousands in the pledge of allegiance and the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." Overhead, three training planes brought from Youngstown by John Datchko, wheeled and zoomed over the crowd during the parade time.

Whistles blew, orders were shouted and the parade moved out again, up Jefferson street past the reviewing stand and on to the Cathedral on Lincoln avenue where the parade disbanded.

Mass Meeting
 Shortly after 8 o'clock the mass meeting in the Cathedral opened. Upon the stage were the members of the executive committee of the Lawrence County Council of Defense, parade officials and distinguished guests.

County Commissioner William R. Walton, chairman of the Lawrence County Council of Defense, opened the meeting by inviting the crowd to sing "America," directed by W. O. "Red" Williams, accompanied by E. E. Brantner, Rev. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of Highland U. P. church, delivered the invocation.

Mr. Walton explained the purpose of the meeting, told of the organization of the council here and then introduced the general chairman of Army Day, Ivor V. Davis, who is the chairman of the council. Mr. Davis spoke briefly upon the day's activities and thanked those who had helped so generously. He introduced the master of ceremonies, Bart Richards.

Point Out War Needs
 Robert E. McCreery, district attorney of Beaver county was the first speaker of the evening. He represented the State Council of Defense. "You are to be congratulated upon this day's success," said Mr. McCreery. "I am told all this was done with a week's work and it is a fine tribute to your organizing and executive abilities in New Castle."

Mr. McCreery warned of the necessity of forthright action now, of the danger in delay and quibbling and closed upon a note of confidence in the final result of the war.

Louis B. Round, deputy executive director of the County Council of Defense was the second speaker. He explained the work of the council, told of the necessity of preventive measures to combat bombs and sabotage and urged every person present to join with the council in its work.

As a musical interlude in the program, Gula Bauder Keagy contralto and Jerome Sacks baritone presented a duet arrangement of Stephen Foster melodies accompanied by Mrs. Laird Myers. The artists were given an ovation for their work.

Judge Braham Speaks
 Judge W. Walter Braham was the principal speaker of the evening. Said Judge Braham in part: "Army Day is celebrated upon the anniversary of our entry into the great World War. Twenty five years after that event we find ourselves embarked upon the grim and terrible business of war. This was not of our choosing. No nation has been more single minded in its seeking after peace, yet the war came."

Later in his address Judge Braham said, "our fighting men do not want to die for their country, they want to live for it but are not afraid to die. We are told that the young Japanese so loves his emperor that he wants nothing more than to die for him. It may be so. But I hazard the opinion that when these boys of ours, familiar from boyhood with engines and machines and boats, get into the field or on the seas they will show the world the feats of daring with airplanes and tanks and speed boats, the like of which the world has never seen. We did not start this mechanized warfare of mass destruction but there are those who will wish they had not."

Judge Braham paid tribute to the memory of Lieutenant John George Cunningham who died on the Bataan Peninsula fighting with MacArthur's forces, to Major John B. Brettell, Major James Blanning and Sergeant James Smith who are on Bataan now. Closing he said "to our young comrades wherever they are, we send out words of American confidence and cheer."

Pictures Close Meeting
 The crowd sang "The Star Spangled Banner," the benediction was pronounced by Rev. D. L. Ferguson and the formal portion of the meeting was over. Following that a motion picture of war time activities was shown.

Army Day in New Castle was a complete success. It was demonstration of the unity of all the people.

Rhineland Is Again Bombed

(International News Service)
 LONDON, April 7 — Maintaining its pace of successive air attacks against Germany and Nazi-occupied territories in Western Europe, the Royal Air Force again attacked objectives in the Ruhr and Rhineland last night, the air ministry announced today.

Inclement weather reduced the scale of the raids and it was difficult to determine results of the attacks.

Five planes failed to return from the raids.

JAPANESE FORCES CONTINUE TO POUND AT BATAAN DEFENSE

estimated at from 125,000 to 150,000 men, military analysts said that Wainwright's war-worn fighters have kept the enemy from moving in greater force against India and Australia.

Supporting this belief, the navy in its night communiqué disclosed that United States submarines are continuing their successful raids on enemy shipping, recently sinking a freighter in Nipponese home waters and two heavily-laden tankers near the Jap stronghold in the Caroline islands.

Fliers Score Success
 Significantly, this news came only a few hours after the war department confirmed reports that United States army Flying Fortress bombers had scored direct hits on a Jap cruiser and a transport in the bay of Bengal, at India's back door.

The navy's announcement followed by only three days another report that American undersea craft operating in the Java sea and the Indian ocean had sunk a Japanese cruiser and torpedoed three other warships and three auxiliary vessels.

Coupled with the prolonged defense of the Philippines, heavy Japanese ship losses since Dec. 7—just four months ago—are believed to be responsible for the slowing down of enemy invasion activities in the islands north of Australia, last United Nations' stronghold in the southwest Pacific.

209 Enemy Vessels Hit
 Based on official army and navy communiqués, a recapitulation of Japanese ship losses during four months of conflict in the Pacific showed: 209 enemy vessels of all types sunk or damaged, including 83 warships.

Wainwright's position in the Philippines, however, took a turn for the worse when the Japanese continued to pound away at American positions by land, sea and air despite tremendous losses suffered by the enemy in two weeks of almost continuous fighting.

Considered ominous was the fact that three times in 48 hours the army reported that the Japanese tried land and sea-borne pincer movements against Wainwright's forces, and that the attempts were supported by tanks and artillery on land, dive bombers overhead and barges mounting big guns off the east coast.

lives, since many of the largest munitions factories are inaccessible except by automobile.

So far, however, many of those in the eligible classifications have refrained from applying to local rationing boards for permission to buy a new car. Afraid that tires and even autos might be commandeered, the drivers ask: "What's the use of buying a new car?"

OPA officials said their fears were groundless. Anyone who fits into the classifications of those eligible for a new car will be able to get new tires or, at least, have their old ones retreaded.

As for commandeering, if tires and cars are eventually requisitioned, they will be used to keep in operation the minimum of approximately 7,500,000 automobiles which officials estimate will be necessary to maintain essential civilian services and transport war workers.

In addition to the reluctance of drivers to apply, the rationing boards have in many cases been too severe and place too strict an interpretation on the rationing regulations.

OPA officials also hope to alleviate hardship among automobile dealers by speeding the sales of new cars.

PITTSBURGH, April 7.—A two-inch block of wood and a conservation-conscious motorist proved too much today for the Pittsburgh police department so reckless driving charges were dismissed against Elmer Winchell.

Arrested after his automobile had struck a pedestrian, Winchell showed police where he had nailed a wood block beneath his accelerator, preventing him from traveling faster than 25 or 30 miles an hour. He said he used the contraption since the rationing became effective.

Mexico paid only $120 for German razor blades last year.

thenticate. These conscripts, as related by the Czechs, complained that they weren't getting enough to eat and demanded to be demobilized and set home. The yarn is that the Fuehrer's really trustworthy Elie Guard had to be tricked onto the mutineers, killed several of them and arrested a good many more. Considering that Adolf has half-starved everybody else, to feed his soldiers, it would seem to be implied that his civilians must be in desperate straits, since even his fighting men are going hungry.

Germany-vanquished populations naturally are far worse off than even civilian Germany.

Sir John Russell, opening the International Agricultural Conference (Anthony Biddle, an American, presided over it in London, late in March, predicted a European-wide peasant uprising as the farming season advances. The peasantry's hiked, it is true. Nevertheless, there is so much of it that keeping it squelched and still productive must be essential, or the Fuehrer cannot maintain his battalions in action; that an all-around rebellion and suspension of crop-planting, cultivation and harvesting cannot but be mightily embarrassing to him in the midst of his belligerency game.

Sir John Russell's remarks, as coming from a Briton, who automatically wishes the worst sort of luck for the Axis, may be subject to a certain percentage of discount.

News Agency's Story

However, it is the German Trans-ocean News agency which sponsors the information that the Nazis, a short while ago, had to raid and suppress a farmers' and industrial workers' "subversive organization" with headquarters in Belgrade. Oh, yes, they suppressed it, but its initial subversiveness is admitted, and maybe there's a widespreadly similar element in the atmosphere.

That France continues simmering hardly requires retelling. Only the other day Vichy, regardless of the censorship, announced the execution of several anti-German mutineers on one of its ships at sea.

Italy is advertised as about as flat as a pancake. Suppose all of Nazi conquered Europe more or less rebels. And then suppose that a sizeable fraction of internal Germany turns anti-Hitleristic. Won't all that raise hades with Adolf's plans?

And he'll have all the democracies to reckon with!

Furthermore, how about Japan? Won't the Japs be out on a limb?

It's a cheerful picture, but it remains to be more than faintly sketched in yet.

We'll see.

Memorial Day
Plans To Start

Meeting Of General Committee
Is Called For Wednesday Evening

Plans of the annual observance of Memorial Day will be gotten under way on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Legion Home.

General Chairman C. Ed. Brown announced today.

All representatives of the several soldier organizations are requested to be present at that time, and a short session is promised by Chairman Brown, if the representatives are prompt.

Chairman Brown states that this year's Memorial Day exercises should mean more to the citizens of this city than ever before, as few families in the county do not have some relative in the present war, and this occasion will give them an opportunity to show their true feelings for the soldier dead of other wars. For this reason, a great observance is looked forward to.

Kearny Repaired;
Back With Fleet

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The U. S. S. Kearny, American destroyer torpedoed in the north Atlantic Oct. 17 with loss of 11 lives, has been repaired at Boston navy yard and is again operating with the fleet, the navy announced today.

Emergency repairs to the 1,630-ton destroyer were made by the repair ship U. S. S. Vulcan in the north Atlantic following the submarine attack some two months before the United States entered the war.

The Kearny was torpedoed as she dropped depth bombs after sighting a merchant ship under attack by a submarine. Three torpedoes missed her, but another struck her on the starboard side near the forward fire room.

The emergency repairs were so efficient Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox addressed a letter of appreciation to Lieutenant Commander Edwin R. Duncan, repair officer of the Vulcan, and Admiral Ernest J. King, commanding officer of the Vulcan.

This is a Workman

He is busy making the steel

If weren't for the steel mill—if it weren't for the steel worker—there would be no tanks.

But there are steel mills, and there were steel mills and steel workers, before we knew we needed tanks.

WHY WERE THERE?

Because steel was needed for other things, peacetime things like cars, rails, stoves, refrigerators, radios, locks, fixtures and household utensils.

Advertising told the public about these things. Then the public wanted these things in mass quantities.

Because the public bought in mass quantities, costs came down as more and more things were made. As costs went down, prices went down and more and more of the public could buy.

As more things were made, more steel was used. More workmen were needed to make it. More and more steel mills went to work.

That is how advertising, which created mass demand and kept mass demand alive by constant repetition, made mass production possible. And mass production before the emergency is what is making it possible for us to have tanks and guns and bombers today. It is what will give us the things we want, at prices we can pay, after the war is won.

When business is better in this town everybody benefits. When everybody in the town knows what's going on all over the world, each man can tell better how to vote, what to buy and how to protect himself.

Read these ads each week. Tell your friends to read them. They tell you what an important part your newspaper has in helping you to know what's going on, so you can decide what you personally are going to do about it all.

Reveal Some Thrilling Encounters In Battles In Air Over Pacific

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, April 7—Here is the story of two American winners of the Distinguished Service Cross I've been trailing for nearly a month.

These two award winners are Lieutenants who soon will be captains. One is Jack Dale from Cleveland and the other is Bill Hennon from Mound, Minnesota.

"Let Folks Know"

Like the others who have seen much action they hate to talk about their exploits but my usual promise to let the folks back home know they are all right never fails to bring their stories in return.

Therefore, to fulfill my part of the bargain I want a certain Miss Jean of Wellman, Iowa, to know that Lieut. Dale said that if he returns and she is still single he will be there to see her.

Lieut. Hennon, who has no doubt about returning, says that when he returns he is going to marry Miss Elizabeth Handaker of St. Paul.

Lieut. Dale has "Jean" painted on his pursuit ship and Lieut. Hennon has "Bess" painted on his ship.

Lieut. Dale is a handsome, rather short youngster and Lieut. Hennon is a pleasant-faced kid with a turned up little nose. They have been fighting everywhere from the Philippines down into Australia. Their pursuit squadron has been officially credited with downing seventy-one Jap planes, although the actual total is probably much higher.

These Japs included Zeros 96 and 97, heavy bombers, 97 army fighters and ME 109's.

In Many Battles
Besides the squadron has smashed destroyers, cruisers, barges and air-ports. The flyers are extremely proud of their squadron and hope it will be made into a shock attack outfit and that it will be called into action wherever the going is toughest.

"One of our best jobs," said Lieut.

Hennon, "was one day recently when we loaded our pursuits with wing bombs and went on a mission to bomb a Jap airport. That is how we started but we wound up not only bombing but strafing and dog-fighting."

"Besides Dale and myself there was Lieut. George Kaiser from Kentucky, Captain Grant Mahoney, Major Sprague from California, Lieut. Egnes, Lieut. Joe Kruezel from Wilkes-Barre, Bill McCallum from either North or South Carolina and Capt. Walter Cass from Pittsburgh."

"Just before we reached the Jap airport six Zeros jumped us and that was the only time we had them outnumbered."

"They came at us at about ten thousand feet. Three of us retained our bombs but the rest dropped theirs and we all went into action. Boy, that was short and sweet."

Shoot Five In Three Minutes
Within three minutes we had shot down five of those six zeros and the other monkey high-tailed it out of there. There were no ack-acks firing because they couldn't take a chance of hitting their own ships."

"The only ship of our that was hit was Kaiser's which got four bullet holes which didn't matter."

"Those five planes went to Mahoney, Kruezel, Sprague, McCallum, and myself. Mahoney and Kaiser then dropped their bombs on the airport and they tell me they hit some grounded planes."

"I tried for a transport in the river but I don't think I got it. However, I must have done some damage to the little boats around it."

"Coming back I saw dozens of small boats in the river, each carrying from four to a dozen troops and I dropped down right to within twenty-five feet of them and went along machine-gunning them. I couldn't miss at that distance. Those waters were alive with huge sharks which probably got poisonous poisoning from eating those so and sos."

"One of our best jobs," said Lieut.

Temperatures In March Over Normal

Excess Of Over Five Degrees Per Day Are Noted Last Month

March proved an abnormal month in many respects, an excess of 5.3 degrees per day in the temperature being noted, and in addition, there was an excess of one inch in the precipitation. There was also a heavy amount of snowfall, over nine inches falling in the 24-hour period, all of which however, did not remain on the ground.

The mean maximum for the month was 53.3 degrees, the mean minimum, 31.3 degrees and the mean or average, 42.2 degrees. The highest temperature was 67 degrees on March 17, and the lowest was 23 degrees on March 20, and other dates. The normal mean for March is 36.9 degrees.

The total precipitation for March was 4.04 inches, while the normal for the month is 3.04 inches. The greatest in 24 hours was 1.06 inches on March 14. Total snowfall in 13.4 inches, the greatest fall in 24 hours being 9.5 inches. Days with 0.1 inches or more of precipitation were 16; days clear, 6; partly cloudy, 11, and cloudy 14.

In March of 1941, the highest temperature was 67 degrees, and the lowest was 18 degrees. The precipitation was 1.06 inches below normal, but there was more snowfall, with 15 inches. The temperature was 4.7 degrees below normal.

Norwegian Priests Resign Offices

Protest Order By Quisling Placing Education In State Authorities Exclusively

(International News Service) STOCKHOLM, April 7—The majority of Norwegian priests have resigned their offices in protest against an order by Premier Major Vidkun Quisling placing education in the hands of state authorities, Oslo reports said today.

Quisling immediately conferred with Church Minister Skancke and department chief Feyling. "Stern measures" of punishment were predicted, but no arrests have yet been made.

Norwegian authorities said the action was tantamount to "insurance" against an act of war, and those responsible will be dealt with accordingly.

The priests who resigned will henceforth be excluded from all church work, with marriage, death and birth registrations handled by laymen.

The Oslo report said the priests acted after a reported declaration by Prime Min. Winston Churchill of England to the effect that Norwegian clergymen "obey God more than Quisling."

The mass resignations caused "great surprise" to the Quisling government, Oslo reported.

Farmers Plan Record Crops

Increased Acreage In Food-stuffs Will Be Planted This Year

TOMATOES ON PREFERRED LIST

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, April 7.—With farmers planning record crops for the coming season under the "food for freedom" program, the Department of Agriculture announced that increased acreage of tomatoes, domestic cabbage, corn, oats, barley and soybeans will be planted in Pennsylvania.

On the other hand, the department reported, a decrease is anticipated in the acreage allotted to potatoes and tobacco.

The expansion of the present crop by regular growers will not bring about the increase in amount of tomatoes grown, the department indicated. Rather, it will be due to the fact that many farmers will plant this fruit for the first time. Since tomatoes are listed as essential food for the country's armed forces, an effort is being made to increase substantially last year's amount which totaled 20,000 acres.

Because of the difficulty in obtaining labor for the state's rural districts, many farmers, who have never before grown that crop, are contracting to grow tomatoes for canning, the department said, since Pennsylvania is regarded as one of the nation's finest tomato canning areas.

Growers of domestic cabbage, especially those in the western and northeastern counties of the commonwealth, also are planning larger crops for the coming season. Approximately ten per cent more will be planted by the farmers of the Columbia-Luzerne-Schuylkill area, while the Waterford-Erie district will have about the same or slightly smaller crops.

The indicated corn acreage this year is placed at 1,320,000 acres compared with 1,282,000 last year, or 103 per cent of the 1941 crop. Approximately 885,000 acres of oats will be sown this year, compared with 876,000 in 1941, while the barley crop will be increased from 139,000 to 147,000 acres during the 1942 season.

Soybeans are indicated to fill 96,000 acres compared with 77,000 last year. It is believed, the department pointed out, that a considerable amount of the soybean increase will be used for human consumption rather than for cattle.

The potato crop, despite the fact that growers had an excellent market last year, will be approximately two per cent smaller than that of 1941. This reduction is attributed to increased costs of production, inability to procure equipment, the uncertainty of labor conditions, and the high price of seed potatoes.

The value of livestock, including poultry and bees, on Pennsylvania's farms on April 1, 1940 was lower than during any of the five year census periods since 1910, excepting that of 1935, the department revealed. The latest value of $136,088,698 compared with the high mark of $238,774,641 in 1920.

The value of crops harvested and forest products for the 1940 period was $163,988,280 or approximately two and one half times smaller than the high value, which was also reached in 1920, it was said.

That the commonwealth has been successful in its efforts to combat and control disease in livestock is indicated in a recent report. During the past three years a total of 3,610,529 specimens were submitted to the state's laboratory for examination compared with a total of 2,573,599 for the previous three-year period.

FIND DOG'S LIFE IS NOT SO TOUGH

(Philadelphia News Service) PHILADELPHIA, April 7.—Attendants at the Philadelphia pound are beginning to think that "leading a dog's life" may not be as bad as it's painted. Especially not if you can have your canine toenails painted a bright and shiny red.

A woman strode into the pound recently with a year-old part fox-terrier tucked under one arm. The pup, she said, was apparently lost. It was a friendly little thing, so it stretched out a dainty paw to shake hands with the attendant. The poundkeeper had to look twice, for the paw was not only dainty but also well manicured—red polish and all. The dog was promptly dubbed "Hedy Lamarr."

The American poet, Robert Frost, wrote for 20 years before his work became well known. His first work to attract attention was published in England in 1913.

Seamen Striking Away From Home Port Are In Mutiny

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, April 7.—Setting aside a ruling of the national labor relations board, the supreme court Monday held that seamen in coastwise trade who strike away from their home port are subject to prosecution for mutiny.

The decision was 5 to 4. The issue arose on appeal of the Southern Steamship Co., Philadelphia, which had been ordered by the labor board to reinstate five seamen who struck while the steamship, City of Port Worth, was in port of Houston, Tex.

Justice Byrnes, who delivered the opinion, declared that only Congress can relieve seamen of the severe penalties for mutiny or for strikes which occur even while steamships are tied up at docks and are still on voyage.

The court upheld an order of the board and Fifth Circuit court to require the steamship company to obey the Wagner Act and bargain with the National Maritime Union, but refused to reinstate discharged strikers.

The precedent of the court's decision holding sidown strikes illegal was cited by Justice Byrnes in overruling the labor board.

Holy Week Reports Given At Meeting

Ministerial Association To Endorse United China Relief Campaign

Reports on Holy Week services were given at the meeting of the New Castle Ministerial Association held Monday morning in the First Presbyterian church. The vice president, Rev. D. J. Blasdel, presided at this meeting which opened with devotions conducted by Rev. David Joseph.

Rev. D. L. Ferguson reported on the week day and Good Friday services held in Central Presbyterian church and recommended that a letter of appreciation be sent to the session of that church and to the organizers who played during these services. Attendances at these services were much better than last year. Dr. Ferguson also expressed thanks to the ministers who cooperated.

Rev. D. J. Blasdel reported on the Mahoningtown churches Good Friday services, Rev. P. P. Sulmonetti reported for South Side churches and Rev. C. J. Burton gave the report on services at Trinity church.

Rev. G. S. Bennett spoke in the interests of the United China Relief campaign which opens next Sunday, Sunday, April 19, is being set aside as the day for stressing the appeal in New Castle. Rev. S. E. Irvine presented a motion, which was adopted, that the association endorse the effort to raise money for China relief. Rev. W. A. Thornton gave the program committee report.

Dr. Ferguson presented Dr. A. F. McGarragh of Grove City, who continued a discussion relative to an advance program started at the last meeting, after which the meeting closed with prayer by Rev. Oliver W. Hurst.

Next meeting of the association will be held in the First Presbyterian church on Monday morning, April 20.

AROUND CITY HALL

Joseph D. Alexander, purchasing agent for the city of New Castle, is having his woes these days and any citizen who imagines that Joseph has an easy job has a second think. It is within his jurisdiction to purchase many articles required in the operation of the city. Recently he has discovered there are many articles he cannot secure and some articles, such as plates for milk trucks, etc., have leaped sky-high in price.

Samuel Haycock, in charge of Sylvan Heights, came from the course yesterday to transact business at city hall. He sounded an optimistic note concerning golf this season. He asserted that Sunday quite a number of golfers teed off and he expects a big season. The clubhouse has also become a very popular place for meetings. Haycock understands how to handle the public and that means considerable.

Dent Shields, U. S. N., RM 26, who may be discharged soon because of his health, expects to resume his duties as a city police bureau sergeant. He was in service more than a year and made many trips aboard the U. S. S. Greer to Iceland.

Mayor Charles B. Mayne has warm praise for the police who watch traffic. He said recently that some of the men named temporarily to positions on the force are doing exactly as he desires—tagging all cars which park longer than they are supposed to. Further, he asserted that they are not only proved efficient but also are courteous.

PHOTOS PLATES; GIVES 'EM FOR WAR

(International News Service) STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 7.—Homer Grove, an employee of the Pennsylvania State College here, has figured out a way to "keep" his 28-year-old collection of automobile license plates and still turn them over to defense salvage.

Until recently two plates—1927 and 28—were missing from the collection. These were presented to Grove by his employer, Dr. F. D. Kern of the college department of botany.

Then the collector had a color photograph taken of the many-colored collection before he turned it over to be made into guns.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, April 7.—No matter who the gubernatorial nominees are after the May 19 primary, Republican and Democratic leaders alike must remove factional differences before the November election. The success of any organization depends upon its ability to put a vote-getting machine into the general election. Failure to achieve success by one party results in the election of the opposition candidate. Most recent example is the bitter factional battle that split the Democratic party in 1936-37 and nullified efforts a year later to put Charles Alvin Jones in the governor's mansion.

Gov. Arthur H. James, one of the most vigorous campaigners in the Republican fold, capitalized upon the break and swept into office. Despite the bitter row in the Democratic camp, with three major candidates for governor, partisans are convinced that "this is a Democratic year." They say that with the nation at war, Pennsylvania must elect a governor in complete accord with the domestic policies of the Roosevelt administration. The Republicans, however, are confident that the heavy G. O. P. registration lead will turn the tide for them. Supporters of Maj.-Gen. Edward Martin claim that military men stand the best chance of election in wartime.

Sen. Harry Shapiro, Philadelphia, was replaced by Sen. Bernard B. McGinnis, Allegheny, as Democratic floor leader for the special session. Under usual procedure, McGinnis should state the Democratic position on legislation under discussion and be backed by speeches from his colleagues. Although an able leader and one of the old line Democratic politicians who stuck to his party's guns during the Republican drought, McGinnis lacks a flair for speechmaking. Shapiro, a former Republican, jumps into the breach when he thinks the Republican majority is trying to slide a loosely drawn bill through the senate and leaves no doubt as to what the Democratic position is on the maneuver. Incidentally, Shapiro is one of the few legislators who reads every bill. He keeps a voluminous note book with every measure briefed in 100 words or less.

Rude awakenings: Sen. James A. Geltz, Allegheny, Republican floor leader, a candidate for re-election, kept a sharp eye on the state elections bureau when candidates filed their petitions to see if he would have any opposition in his district. On the final day two routine checks assured him there was no other candidate opposing him. Then he left and started kidding his colleagues from Allegheny county who faced opposition. The next day when the bureau completed listing candidates, Geltz found he would have to oppose Frank W. Irtel, a deputy attorney general, at the primary election.

Passenger cars shipped into Cuba last year totaled 2460.

Name Of 'Defense' Bonds Now Is 'War'

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The war today brought a new name for Defense Savings Bonds and Stamps. The treasury announced that henceforth they will be known as "War Savings" securities.

Substitution of the word "War" for "Defense" long has been advocated by numerous public figures, including Wendell L. Willkie, who said the name would show the United States now is on the offensive.

The change-over will be gradual. Banks, postoffices and stores will be sent War Savings Bonds and Stamps as their present stocks are exhausted.

Legislature In Closing Days

Tax Reduction Measure Gains Unexpected Strength In Session

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 7.—As the special session of the legislature moved into its final days with adjournment scheduled for Friday, a $27,000,000 Democratic tax reduction measure gained unexpected strength following almost unanimous house approval.

Spurred on by overwhelming Republican support in the house, Democratic Floor Leader Leo A. Achtermann said he would ask his colleagues in the senate to press for a vote on the measure which bears his name. The Achtermann bill would suspend until two years after the war the four-mill state personal property tax.

Heading the jocular admonition of Speaker Elmer Kilroy, "I wish to remind the members that this is an election year," Republican assemblymen almost unanimously disregarded the plea of their floor leader, Rep. Ellwood J. Turner, and joined their Democratic colleagues in voting for the bill. The vote was 161-5. Previous to this the G. O. P. leaders decided the bill was unconstitutional.

Originally conceded no chance of obtaining the approval of the Republican-controlled senate for the Democratic-sponsored measure, Democratic leaders saw a slim chance of pushing it through the supper house. This being an election year, they hoped that Republican senators would kick over the party traces if forced to go on record on the bill and vote for it. The Democrats apparently intended to force a vote by calling for the discharge of the committee receiving the bill in an effort to prevent its being pigeonholed for the remainder of the session.

Youngstown Pilot Killed In Action In Pacific Area

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 7.—Second Lieut. John J. Musial, who was mentioned by an I. N. S. correspondent recently as one of the darest pilots making things tough for the Japs near Australia, was killed in action March 18, it was revealed today.

A story by an International News Service writer published March 29 told of Musial staging a hair-raising dog fight over a training station field. The story apparently was written only a few days before Musial met his death.

The pilot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Musial, received a letter from their son Saturday.

Ideal Spring Weather Greet's Track Brigade

New Castle High Spiked Shoe Set Begins Drills At Taggart Stadium

Greeted by perfect spring weather, New Castle high's track nominees staged their opening drill of the season at Taggart stadium on Monday afternoon.

Despite a small turnout, Coaches Phil H. Brudenbaugh and William "Bill" Klee were impressed with the calibre of material present. Within the next few days the mentors expect to have all candidates on deck.

The spiked-shoe set underwent a light workout designed principally to loosen leg muscles. While the boys spun around the saucer, Coaches Brudenbaugh and Klee were impressed by the showing of several of the athletes.

Number of Standouts
George Crunkleton resembles Johnny Woodruff. In trotting around the oval, the colored athlete showed stamina, ease and an exceptionally long stride which measured better than seven feet. George may haul the local colors in the 440, half and mile events.

"Skip" Donegan, who leaped over the high jump bar so impressively at George Washington junior high, shows promise of developing into a valuable man. Donegan can leap 5 feet 7, at least he did that in junior high.

Versatile Bobby Lee, the pitching grid star, will do additional flinging in track. Lee will undoubtedly be the shotput and discus man.

Another Bob, Stewart, brought about some eyebrow lifting as he faunted around the track. The seventh grader looms as a crack 100, 220 and relay man. James Blackwell hopes to snare a broad jump post.

Harvey Burris is gunning for the high jump event and supposedly has lots of spring in his long legs.

Dave Genkinger and Mike Jacobs, ex-Ben Franklin ace, are being groomed as pole vaulters.

With the seasons about to swing in full operation, the coaches expect to uncover a lot of hidden talent within the next few days.

Harry Gregor, who comes from a family of managers, will serve in that capacity during the track season. Harry's two brothers, Richard and Francis, were managers in basketball and track, respectively, during their high school days.

The opening track event is billed for next week when the school stages its annual inter-class meet Thursday and Friday afternoons.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

There are not many of the old gang left. However, daily we see that rugged boy of the teens, George Chip, a chap who reached the goal for which he aspired, the middle-weight championship of the world.

Each day he comes downtown to the chimes, takes his stroll around the main stem, then retreats to home and rests until he comes forth again to go to his employment, his role being a watchman at the West Pittsburgh power plant. Every Tuesday his former pal, Tom McMahon, a heavyweight of note, returns from the Warren to this city to visit his friends. The Battler, Terry, lightweight, now and then flares forth from Canyon street say hello to the boys, while Tommy Jones is always around. He, like Terry, was a lightweight. However, he is now a police lieutenant. Jimmy Steiner, once a junior lightweight, like Jones, is police lieutenant. Paris Kid Caney, 135, is also around now and then. However, the majority of the boys who fought for the late Jimmie Dime have drifted. Brannigan, 118, to Pittsburgh; Dunn, 126-33, to California; Tony Ross, a heavyweight, is dead but Dan Dailey, also a "heavy", is in Florida. Tommy Bresnahan, 135, is in New York state and Joe Chip, 158, is in Pottsville. Babe Picato, 126, is in California and Eddie Weyant, 126, is in McDonald, O. Mick Forkins, 147, is in Warren and Joie Dailey, 126, in Erie.

April 17 has been designated as the time Jimmy Blivins will match punches and skill with Bob Pastor, conqueror of Blivins' townsman, Lem Franklin who was defeated by Bob, then battered out by Harry Bobo. The match will be staged in Cleveland which expecting for New York has become boxing's biggest city.

Johnny Kovatch, Northwestern star of three years ago, has been signed to coach Indiana U football.

National Clay courts tennis tournament will be held in St. Louis, June 13-21.

The Slovak baseball team will have an important meeting at the club Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. It was announced today by Manager Steve Gonda.

All of the Slovak players of last season and any others who desire a tryout are asked to attend the meeting.

Hitchcock Re-Named By Pennsy Club As President For 1942

Thomas H. "Tommy" Hitchcock for the sixth year has been re-elected as president of the Pennsylvania Fishing Club. His election came last night at the Castleton Hotel as 21 members of the oldest fishing club in the state met for its 46th annual dinner-meeting.

Re-elected with Mr. Hitchcock were the same officers as before: vice-president, Wilbur Chapman and secretary and treasurer, Karl Rohrer.

Whether or not the Pennsy club will open the annual camp at Sans Souci Sound, on Georgian Bay, Ontario, Canada will not be known for a spell owing to the war emergency, but the members are already making plans for the annual fishing jaunt nevertheless. The camp is always open the month of July, some members going for two weeks at a time.

FIRST BLOOD . . . By Jack Sords

FAIR OR FOUL By LAWTON CARVER INS Sports Editor

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 7.—The masters golf championship which starts Thursday at the National club on the outskirts of Augusta, Ga., will be the most important tournament of this year due to the cancellation of the U. S. Open and because some enduring headlines may be made there. It wouldn't be surprising if the 72-hole record for the event went by the boards when the elite of our club-swinging stars finish trotting over those rolling fairways.

Some of the boys who have been playing in the west and down through the south are sizzling hot this spring, and conceivably will knock a stroke or two off the 279 standard established by Ralph Guldahl in 1939.

You have to be a little daffy to put your finger on one guy in a select golf field and proclaim him as the standout candidate for the jackpot, for any one of at least a dozen of the entrants might pour on the pressure for four rounds to win it all. But I'll take Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson as the two young men mostly likely to succeed this time.

Wood Or Snead

They may be over-golfed by now from that arduous winter campaign, and perhaps a gentile Craig Wood who has resided nearly all winter will have the touch to win the masters for the second straight time, or Sam Byrd, who took the Greensboro Open, may be able to come right back at Augusta. Some will string along with Sam Snead, too.

But Hogan, who has never won the event, and Nelson, the 1937 champion, have been the big names in the field that order and will be close to the front at the finish.

At the moment, Hogan is so far in front of the rest in money-winnings on the current tour that he is virtually certain to finish the year as the leader. Nelson is running second well to the rear.

Both are superb shot-makers and dazzling performers when at their best, which is about nine rounds out of 10. On their off days they only beat par by a stroke or two, and they are among those easily capable of setting up a new record below that 279 of Guldahl's. Not that any such accomplishment is easy on that layout. It just so happens that they have no regard whatever for all the devilish difficulties that lay in wait through 72 wearisome holes.

They have the shots, the calm deadly concentration, the experience, the will to win and everything else that goes into the makeup of a tournament golfer. And, as I was pointing out, they have had the touch of late to outdistance the best. When they get it they still get up there and make a fight for it.

Buts Of Cash

They will have that other not to be overlooked factor pushing them on too—that money angle. A victory in the masters is worth a sizeable hunk of cash to the man who can win it, not in prize money so much but in the gold that pours in from a dozen other sources, especially this year when there is no open championship to detract from the battle in Georgia. Nelson and Hogan are not the kind to forget that either. If one of them doesn't win, the winner most assuredly will get a tussle from the two Texans in this renewal of a classic which annually has grown in popularity and importance ever since it was started in 1934.

Just to keep the records straight and the boys begin to lineup their sights for Thursday's start, here are the past winners and their scores:

1934, Horton Smith, 284; 1935, Gene Sarazen and Craig Wood tied, 282; and Sarazen won the playoff, 144 to 149; 1936, Smith again, 285; 1937, Nelson, 283; 1938, Henry Picard, 285; 1939, Guldahl, 279; 1940, Jimmy Demaret, 280; 1941, Wood, 280.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

William Withers, son of Walter Withers, of East Moody avenue, who sustained a wound of the abdomen March 28, when a small calibre rifle with which he was playing in the woods, near Graceland cemetery, was accidentally discharged, has been able to return to his home.

The famous "Mona Lisa" by Leonardo da Vinci, was stolen from the Louvre Museum in Paris in 1911. It was found later in Italy and restored to the collection in 1913 through the intervention of J. Pierpont Morgan, the elder.

Daylight Saving Time Starts A Minor Civil War

(International News Service)

ONTARIO, Ore.—Daylight saving time has caused a small civil war in Malheur county, arid eastern Oregon area with more square miles than seven eastern states and half a square mile for each of its 19,000 residents.

For 20 years Malheur county has been in the Mountain time belt, which meant that clocks were about an hour ahead of the sun. When daylight saving time was ordered for the entire nation most of the county changed to Pacific time to prevent setting clocks two hours ahead of the sun and getting up in the middle of the night. This shift required no change in clocks.

However, Nyssa, boasting nearly 900 residents, found itself divided and recently returned to Mountain time. It intended the rest of the county should do likewise because of the Oregon Attorney General's ruling that Nyssa and Ontario should remain in the mountain belt.

County officials asked what authority the attorney general has and pointed out that only the Interstate Commerce commission has any say-so on time zones.

Attorney and Mrs. Chas. R. Davis of New Castle, but who are now residing in Harrisburg, were guests of Mrs. Luella E. Ayers Friday evening.

Miss Helen Rodgers, teacher in the high school at Sayville, Long Island, is spending her Easter vacation with her mother, Mrs. L. L. Rodgers.

Dismiss 2,000 Pro-Axis Men In Industries

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, April 7.—In the most sweeping move of its kind since World War I, more than 2,000 bondsmen and other pro-Axis followers have been ordered dismissed from their jobs in war defense plants in the New York area, the New York Journal and American said Monday.

The dismissal orders were signed by Maj. Gen. Charles M. Wesson, former chief of ordnance in Washington, and by ranking officers of the navy's war protection division, the Journal and American article declared.

Aliens caught in this roundup were sent to Ellis Island and other detention centers.

The naturalized citizens of this vast army of "enemies within," now face denaturalization proceedings, under an order from Attorney-General Francis Biddle.

Official case histories, with names and addresses of these employees and the war plants, were made available to the New York Journal-American, which has been working in close cooperation with the army, navy and department of justice.

Since the attack on Pearl Harbor, on Dec. 7, navy and army investigators have been checking the backgrounds of all employees suspected of disloyalty to the United States.

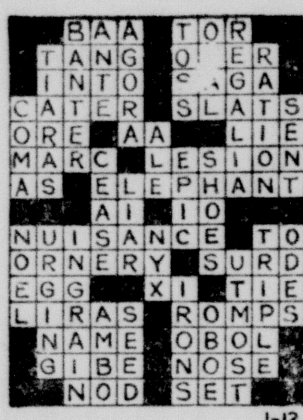

The navy intelligence in this area now is responsible for more than 3,000 war factories in New York, New Jersey and parts of Delaware, Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

The army intelligence in this area, working under the highly organized G-2, takes in some 2,300 plants.

More than 250 factories manufacturing vital material for the army, were notified by Maj. Gen. Wesson to dismiss certain employees "forthwith."

Library Loans

190,841 Books In
Year Is Report

Records 17,570 Borrowers
During Past Year—Annual Report Given

New Castle Free Public Library, according to its annual report for 1941, loaned 190,841 books to 17,570 borrowers. Or in other words, there was a circulation of 10.8 books per borrower during the past year.

With 3,937 volumes added during the past year, to the public library shelves, and 1789 withdrawn due to obsolescence, the library now has a total of 57,715 volumes, each of which, taking an average, was lent 3.3 times.

The library has 12,394 adult borrowers and 5,176 juvenile borrowers. The youngsters borrowed proportionally more books than their elders—a total of 66,804, or nearly 13 books apiece. The adults' borrowing average was about 10 books each. Each circulation cost the library 13c.

With adults—seeking "escape" perhaps—fiction was four times as popular as non-fiction. While children—keen for facts—took out for home reading only about twice as much fiction as non-fiction.

There were only 557 foreign books loaned.

Reading room attendance was 24,292, and 780 children attended story hour.

Home Furnishings Are Deglamorized

Are Deglamorized

Victory Gas Range Described As "Ugly As Tank, But Just As Useful"

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, April 7.—Home may still be where the heart is, but it won't be the chrome-plated, bagged-up place that we know now till after the war.

Featuring a victory gas range, described by the Home Builders Association of Philadelphia as "absolutely deglamorized, ugly as a tank, but just as useful in winning the war," the defense housing show carried on in spite of the curtailment of metal for use outside defense production.

Bathrooms and kitchens will show the lack of metal most, according to officials, but plastics have been developed to replace it satisfactorily. Even the chain that fastens the rubber stopper to your bathtub (if, of course, you have a rubber stopper) will be a non-metallic affair. And don't expect shiny faucets with your new tub, because your potential spigots will be re-routed into part of a bomber or a tank.

LEARN THROUGH SENSE ORGANS

(International News Service)

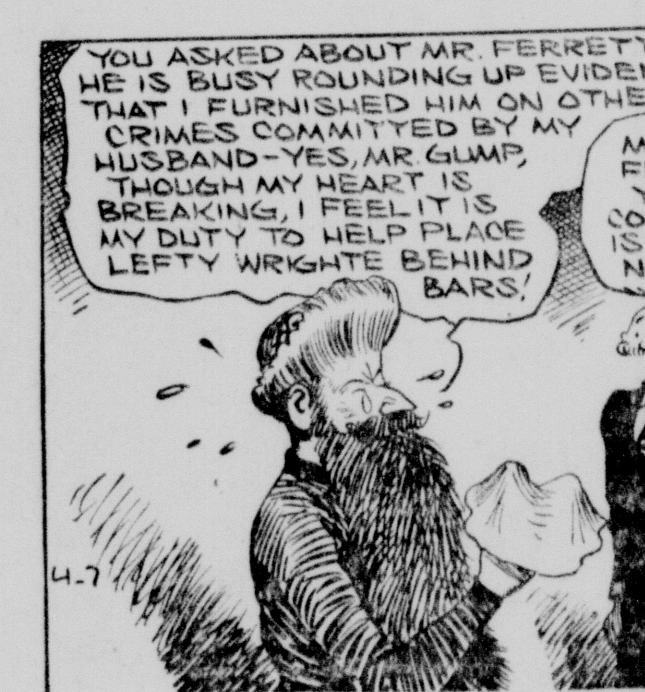

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 7.—Old fashioned textbook learning is being replaced by learning through hands, eyes, ears, and other sensory avenues, according to Dr. Frank A. Butler, associate professor of education at the Pennsylvania State College.

It is said that dentistry and watch-making are frequently practiced jointly in China, often in the same small room.

Stock Trend Is Irregular

Trading In New York Market Is Sluggish During Morning

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 7.—The stock market developed an irregular trend today with trading sluggish.

Some stocks added a point or more to yesterday's gains. Included were Allied Chemical, Air Reduction, U. S. Gypsum, American Airlines, Eastman Kodak, and Liggett & Myers "B". American Telephone ran into profit-taking and fell more than a point at one time.

Union Carbide also dropped more than a point. Lesser declines were incurred by Bethlehem, American Can, Pennsylvania R. R., Lima Locomotive, Sears Roebuck, Chrysler, Standard Oil of N. J., International Harvester, American Smelting, Western Union and Du Pont.

Plus signs were shown by a number of representative issues, including Lockheed, Johns-Manville, Anaconda, General Electric, Texas Co., National Biscuit, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Fajard, Coca-Cola and U. S. Rubber.

Hogs continued to advance, reaching a new 16-year high, but most other commodities were easier. Cotton lost about 25 cents a bale. Bonds held within narrow limits.

Construction Costs In Army To Be Probed

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 7.—The house military affairs committee on Monday ordered a general investigation of army construction costs throughout the country.

Decision to extend drastically the scope of the study was made as a result of an investigator's report of alleged excessive costs at the huge shell loading plant at Minden, La.

"We have decided to find out once and for all if the sort of practices turned up at that plant are general in all army works," said Rep. Thomas (D. Tex., chairman of the subcommittee, which is handling the matter.

Thomas said his committee will first complete its study of the Louisiana ordnance plant, and then will go into other similar plants. He indicated that committee investigators will soon be in the field at the other undesignated plants.

These disclosures came as the group prepared to reassemble to hear further evidence from its investigator, Gordon K. Miller, who spent a month at the $27,000,000 Louisiana plant.

Later in the week, Thomas said, officials of the Siles Mason Co. of New York, named as the contractor in the case, would be called. They are to be followed by army quartermaster and engineering officers, according to the announcement.

In his report, Miller declared that building costs at the Minden plants were "excessive," asserting that the per unit price of some temporary frame buildings there ran about as high as the cost of erecting the supreme court building and other marble structures in Washington.

He also produced reports and records raising a question as to whether many of these buildings could withstand wind pressure and whether proper safety precautions had been taken against possible fires or explosions caused by electricity.

Climaxing the report, he asserted that the army had rented a truck for $850 a month which had been purchased previously by one of the company officials for $4500. He said that already the government had paid more than $9,000 in rentals for the vehicle, or twice what it cost.

Thomas referred this matter back to the army and to the department of justice and he is awaiting a report.

Plan Campaign For Flag Display In Every Home

Gen. MacArthur Accepts Invitation Of Sergt. York To Serve As Honorary Commander

(International News Service)

MELBOURNE, April 7.—General Douglas MacArthur has accepted the invitation of Sergt. Alvin York to serve as "honorary commander-in-chief" of a nationwide campaign in the United States to display the flag in every home.

As national chairman of a citizens' committee directing the campaign, Sergt. York cabled General MacArthur as follows: "To fulfill your aim—to keep the flag flying—I have accepted the national chairmanship of a citizens' committee heading a campaign to display the flag in every home. I am assured that the campaign is pleasing to the President. Your sanction of the program would weld the entire nation in enthusiastic cooperation. Will you accept the post of honorary national commander-in-chief? Please cable your support and acceptance."

General MacArthur replied: "I cannot tell you the sense of distinction I feel in accepting the post you proffer me. Through the history of mankind symbols have exerted an impelling influence upon the lives of men. The cross, the flag are the embodiment of our ideals and teach us not only how to live but how to die."

Blame Confessed Slayer For Fourth Death In Detroit

(International News Service)

DETROIT, April 7.—Though Dominick Piccone, confessed slayer of three Michigan farmers last week, has been behind Jackson prison bars since Thursday, Highland Park police on Monday blamed him for a fourth victim.

The latest death blamed on Piccone was that of Detective Lieut. Homer B. Shearer, 54, who died in a hospital while apparently recovering after an operation. He had been largely instrumental in bringing about Piccone's conviction four years ago on assault charges.

Fellow-officers said the lieutenant, upon learning that the 20-year-old youth had been paroled two weeks ago—and realizing him to be an admitted "cop-hater," collapsed and later died. He was said to have been fearful of his family's safety.

Piccone last week admitted the murders of three farmers within two days, and was promptly recommitted to the prison for life.

DIVORCES REFUSED

Two divorce applications have been refused after review of the testimony by the court. The first was that of Sara Kramer against Martin Kramer. In his findings
Judge W. Walter Braham said evidences of illegal means had been used to obtain the divorce and it is refused.

The second, before Judge John G.
Lamoree was that of Charles Pine versus Alvan H. Fisher, guardian ad litem of Erma Pine. In this Judge Lamoree found no grounds for divorce and it was refused.

CIVIL COURT OPENS

April civil court, like a number of previous civil courts looks to be a fairly short session. Two cases went to trial Monday morning after the jury was polled. In court room number one before Judge W. Walter Braham the case of John Powell against Archie Antinossi opened.

This is a case of where the plaintiff claims he was sitting near the parking lot of the Caveri Wire Company at midnight of August 9, 1941 when a car driven by the defendant hit him. He claims severe injuries.

In court room number two before Judge John G. Lamoree the case of Victor C. Minster and Hilda Minster his wife against Rocco Arci was called for trial. The plaintiff claims his car was struck by that of the defendant about one quarter mile from the Ohio State line on June 29, 1941, damaging the plain-tiff's car.

A number of jurors were excused from duty due to a number of reasons. These included Elmer Baird, farmer, Mahoning township; J. V.
Bowman, potter, 4th ward; Floyd
Cotton, farmer, Shenango township;
G. W. Conway, Sr., editor, 2nd ward;
Mary Alice Craig, housekeeper,
North Beaver township; Pauline Dako, housekeeper, Shenango township; Frank Dewberry, gas station,
2nd ward; James Doyle, laborer,
Pulaski township.

James Fox, Sr., retired, 4th ward;
Beulah Friebel, housekeeper, South
New Castle Boro; James Gredis, clerk, 4th ward; Frank Gorley, retired, 7th ward; August Hanselman, retired, 4th ward; George Hazen, laborer, Perry township; Samuel Heitenbaugh, farmer, Wilmington township; Stephen Hutnic, brakeman, 7th ward; Harry Irwin, laborer, 4th ward; Charles L. Kennedy, laborer, Perry town ship; Clyde Nicholson, clerk, 2nd ward; Ben Pollock, farmer, Plaingrove township; Charles Quigley, farmer, Hickory township; Charles Richards, tin worker, 2nd ward; Grace Riddle, housekeeper, Enon Valley; Peter Rozzi, fruit dealer, 8th ward; Bradley Watkins, minister, North Beaver township; Frank Wolfe, merchant, Ellwood City.

TAX CARDS LATE

Tax cards will be late this year, according to Earl R. Wimer, county treasurer, due to the tax duplicate books not being turned over to him by the county commissioners. Ordinarily part of the books are turned over by this time but this year the treasurer has not received one. For this reason, Mr. Wimer concludes, the notices will be unusually late reaching the tax payers.
